HOMELESS:HOUSED is Underway

HOMELESS:HOUSED is an innovative, five year project between Columbus House and Yale School of Architecture that will produce five two-unit homes designed specifically for those experiencing homelessness. Each house will accommodate a small family and an individual, providing our most vulnerable residents with permanent, supportive housing that can be replicated, is sustainable and low impact. One house will be constructed per year - the first house is currently under construction and will be ready for residents this fall, 2017.

Congratulations to Andrew for receiving the Triumph Award!

Andrew (R), a 17-year Air Force Veteran, recently received a Triumph Award for "displaying the courage, commitment, and resolve to improve his quality of life while being a positive influence for others" from the WorkPlace, our partner that educates and trains for a selfsufficient workforce. When Andrew was medically discharged from duty in 2015, he fell on tough times. Thanks to your support, Andrew and his family of six stayed at our Wallingford Emergency Shelter while he worked to find a job and permanent home. With the help of Kevin Paulin (L), Columbus House’s Homeless Veterans’ Reintegration Program Employment Specialist, Andrew secured a job (and was unable to make the WorkPlace awards ceremony)! Congratulations, Andrew - we are very proud of you and wish you the best!

The 2017 Point-In-Time Count - a one-night in January snapshot of CT's homeless population - showed a 24% decrease in the state's homeless population since the first count in 2007. These numbers, released by the Connecticut Coalition to End Homelessness, provide critical information when we apply for funding for our programs to end homelessness. Alison Cunningham, Chief Executive Officer of Columbus House, commented "We have reached this milestone only because the resources have been made available to provide housing, services and service coordination for the most vulnerable among us, including families with children."
